Reason for request

NOTE: Fixed Interest Rate Loans
If certain events occur during a fixed interest period, then fees and break costs may payable for fixed interest rate loans.
Break costs will be payable during the fixed interest rate period if any of the following events occurs:

- when the whole of the loan is repaid, in this case the fee is payable on the final payment date and will be included in the final loan payout amount;
- any part of the loan is repaid (except where that amount plus any other amount prepaid during the preceding 12 months does not exceed $20,000);
- the fixed interest rate that applies under your loan agreement is changed by agreement to another type of loan product;
- break costs are payable even if the repayment is because of a demand by us after default; or
- if you switch your loan to another product (which you can only do so with our consent).
